

Cookie Policy

Last updated: August 24, 2026

1. What Are Cookies

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website. They are widely used to make websites work, to remember your preferences, and to help owners understand how their sites are used. This policy explains how Rideum uses cookies and similar technologies on our websites, and complements our Privacy Policy.

2. How We Use Cookies

Category	Purpose	Consent
Strictly necessary	Enable core functions such as security, session management, and language preference	Always active
Functional	Remember choices you make (e.g., theme, region) to personalise your experience	Optional
Analytics & performance	Understand how visitors use our site so we can improve it, in aggregate	Optional

We do not use cookies to build advertising profiles or to sell your personal information.

3. First- & Third-Party Cookies

Some cookies are set by us ("first-party") and some by third-party services we use for analytics or embedded content ("third-party"). Cookies may be "session" cookies, which expire when you close your browser, or "persistent" cookies, which remain until they expire or you delete them.

4. Managing Your Cookies

When you first visit our site, our cookie banner lets you accept or reject non-essential cookies. You can change your choice at any time through the banner controls. You can also manage or delete cookies through your browser settings. Disabling some cookies may affect how parts of the site function.

5. Do Not Track

Some browsers offer a "Do Not Track" signal. Because there is no common industry standard for responding to it, our sites do not currently respond to Do Not Track signals; we honour your choices through the cookie controls described above.

6. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Cookie Policy from time to time. The date at the top of this page indicates when it was last revised.
